Colonial Bowling League-Iroquois vs. Pilgrims. Saengerbund League — Wagners vs. Brahams.

Ingram Memorial League—Seminoles vs. Eau Claires.

Team standings in the Saengerbund League have changed but little since the last publication of the averages.

The Wagners took their accustomed place in the cellar. Schumans have increased their lead by taking a majority of their sets from both the Schuberts and Mozarts. In the individuals, George Burdine is now first, having passed Eckstein for first position. Eckstein still holds high game, 278, but Burdine has high set with 674, and also the nearest to a clean set, 29 frames without a break. Redeker is the last of the honor five, but will have to work hard, as the next three men are strong bowlers.

A. U.'s indoor championship meet at Madison Square Garden recently. Mc Donald followed his advice, and as a result Pat tossed the sphere farther than ever before.

In the estimation of the athletes Quinn is one of the best trainers in the ranks. He has made a study of track and field games for the last ten years. He is able to don running trunks and shirt and show the beginners just what he means. He is not a coach who tries to explain verbally what he desires, but one who is able physically to demonstrate proper methods. Standing slightly over 5 feet 8 inches in height and weighing less than 150 pounds Quinn has more physical ability than many who are drawing salaries from the colleges and universities as coaches and trainers. He has specialized in the field events, but this does not deter him from showing the jumpers, hurdlers, and sprinters at Cambridge how to get the best results from their work.

With a number of important matters up for decision, together with a new slate of officers to be elected, the annual meeting tonight of the Automobile Club of Washington, promises to be an interesting occasion. The meeting is scheduled for 8 o'clock, at the Grafton Hotel, where the organization has its winter quarters. President W. S. Duvall will preside, while John K. Interest in the approaching Federal Aid Good Roads convention, to be held here January 16 and 17, by the American Automobile Association, has proven to be much more widespread than had been anticipated. The indications now are for an attendance that will represent nearly every State and include large delegations of motorists, business men, farmers, and other classes to whom the question of road improvement is a
